SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

The exodus of summer residents and vacationists from the Lake Tahoe region so early in the year is almost shameful. During the fall, the lake and surrounding country takes on its most beautiful atmosphere. The air, crisp and cool and highly exhilerating is supplimented by nature in its most charming mood. The trees, shrubs and carpet of greenry is never more attractive and it is too bad that those who enjoy Tahoe during the summer months fail to remain to view it in its present stage.

It may be tough on the deer, but hunters in the Truckee area this year are rejoicing for the most part in their luck. It is estimated that this season will see more deer killed than for many seasons past.

We hope tne hunter who killed one young doe and left another to die with both front legs horribly broken near Donner Summit the opening of the season enjoyed his hunt to the fullest extent, but that he may have his trigger finger amputated before he does any more such uncharitable stunts.

One nice thing about the deer season is that it takes a lot of otherwise good anglers off the streams in this region and gives the tyros their season's best fishing.

Chamber Sends Answer In Reply To Rejection Note

Disappointment of Truckee Group Expressed In Letter

Action Taken at Meeting Of Local Civic Body This Week

Mrs. Lotta Bryant, secretary of the Truckee Chamber of Commerce on Monday was instructed by C. B. White, president of the local civic organization, to write a letter to Mrs. Ella M. Austin, county superintendent of schools, protesting the recent action taken by the county official in declining to hold the annual teachers institute in Truckee.

The action was taken following receipt by White of a letter from Mrs. Austin in which she explained there was insufficient accomodation in Truckee to house the teachers of the county during the two-day meet.

It was pointed out that Truckee affords ample accomodations and that arrangements had already been started to house the visitors.

When the institute was held in Grass Valley last year, Truckee's invitation that the 1938 sessions be held here was accepted and it was believed until the recent communication from Mrs. Austin that this would be the case.

The letter to Mrs. Austin, White pointed out, will direct her attention to the fact that had contact been made with the local chamber officials the arrangements could easily have been made, but that no one here was contacted or advised until the letter was received informing the local group that Mrs. Austin had changed the place of meeting this month to Grass Valley.

Many Deer Killed In This District On Opening Day

Excellent Results Greet Many Hunters On Opening Day of Season

HUNDREDS ARE SLAIN

First Deer of Season Brought Into Truckee By Placer Man

Little deer with forked horns, big deer and old monarchs of the forest with huge spreads and deer of every description have been passing through Truckee during the past week as the hunters stalk the hills and valleys in the annual month's slaughter.

The season, according to local hunters, is one of the most lucrative ever enjoyed here and even rank amateurs are having fine luck throughout the local district.

The first deer of the season brought into Truckee was killed a mile or so south of here along the Tahoe highway by Robert Allen, a Roseville druggist. The four pointer weighed 160 pounds.

Another buck, scaling 160 pounds, was shot only a few yards away the same day by Bill Schoening of Hayward, nephew of Frank Kinne, who stopped here over the weekend.

A party composed of V. C. Shattuck, and Merritt Shattuck of Truckee and C. S. Shattuck, Bryan Shattuck and Charles and Joe Prentice of San Jose bagged three bucks weighing a total of 580 pounds near Truckee on opening day. The deer were eight and two four pointers.

Scores of other local hunters were fortunate and nearly every one who went out came back with a deer or a swell alibi.

H. I. Snider, forest ranger, who hunted in the Hell Hole area and spent much of his time validating tags for others, said that nearly 100 fine deer were killed there last week, and remarked on the excellent condition of the bucks.

Heavy Shipments Come By Express; Turkeys Enjoy Speedy Delivery

Then a few days later, just for variety, a large truck cab, weighing nearly 800 pounds arrived in one piece for J. P. Holland from the eastern factory.

"The job sure offers variety," the agent sighed as he awaited to see what the next train would bring.

Miss Ione Ghirard Becomes Bride Of Ilardi In Ceremony

Popular Young Couple Will Make Home Here After Honeymoon

At noon on Sunday, September 18, Miss Ione Ghirard became the bride of Eugene Ilardi at a ceremony solemnized by Rev. William Daly at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ghirard, before an altar draped with white satin and decorated with Easter lilies and white candles, supported by a candleabrum on either side. White gladioli were arranged about the rooms, forming an effective background for the occasion.

Only members of the immediate families were present at the nuptial rites.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white lace and tulle, her veil of the latter material was supported by a garland of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Esther Denton of San Francisco, the bride's maid was clad in a gown of pink taffeta with complimentary trimming in burgundy and wore a corsage of orchids.

Little Miss Joan Ghirard was her sister's flower girl and wore a frock of ruffled pink taffeta and carried a basket of gardenias.

Following the pretty service, a reception was held and an attractively appointed luncheon was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Goode.

The most seriously injured was Mrs. Lottie S. Leoni, 44, of Calistoga, driver of one of the cars, who suffered a broken left arm and other lesser hurts.

Her husband, Henry Leoni, 49, escaped with shock and bruises. The accident occurred near Rainbow Tavern when the car skidded while going too fast on the wet pavement.

State Traffic Sergeant C. E. McKeen investigated all the accidents and placed the blame on the speedy driving on slippery roads.

WISTFUL MEN

Six centuries ago the monstrous pall of Black Death spread over Europe. A fourth of the people died—crying out in stark terror of a deadly something they could not comprehend. Three centuries later the monstrous pall spread over London—the Great Plague. In its shadow died 70,000.

Today that same pall would spread itself over California and six other western states. Plague germs have been found in fleas and rats. But now there is no terror. Science dissiptes the pall, surely, easily, swiftly. Prophylactic measures already are in effect—sanitation nd rodent extermination and fumigation. Science has conquered the Plague, as science has conquered other enemies of man. Scientists are the truly great men of the ages. They are men who have achieved, who should be gloriously happy. And yet—

Not long ago a wistful, sad faced little man arrived in England. He is a scientist who has spent his long life trying to help people to conquer over hate, distrust, jealously and fear. He has been driven from his homeland because he is a Jew. He is Sigmund Freud.

Wistful must be the scientists who have given man wings to fly like birds—to see men using that power to destroy cities, to murder women and children. Wistful the scientists who have made perfected the machinery for abundant industrial and agricultural systems—to see millions on charity for food and clothing while our marvelous factories close or curtail production, and crops are ploughed under or left to rot in the fields.

Greed, dissension, stubborness, prejudice, intolerance: these are Plagues which seize upon the instruments of science and turn man's hand against himself. Conquest of these must come from within the soul of man; Science is powerless before them.

UNITED STATES STRIVING FOR TAX RECORD

Americans often attempt to cheer themselves by arguing that our tax burden is not yet so heavy as that borne by the British people. But, Harry Scherman points out in New Republic, that is definitely a misconception.

Due to the tremendous increase in taxation that has taken place here in recent years, we have the unenviable distinction of having caught up with the the English. In the last fiscal year, the English people paid $107 per person in taxes. And the American people paid precisely the same.

Furthermore, much of our emergency spending has been financed by deferring the taxing period—that is, by inflation of the debt, and incurring gigantic obligations to be paid in the future. If we made onr tax income equal our tax outgo, it would very possibly be discovered that we are the highest taxed nation in the world.

Politically Speaking

by John W. Dunlap
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.— (UP)— Now that the eelction returns are in, there is time to speculate what the reelection of District Attorney Otis Babcock of Sacramento county means to the greatly ballyhooed grand jury investigation of legislative corruption charges.

The failure to secure indictments after a lengthy inquiry is believed the chief reason why Babcok barely squeezed out a victory over A. D. McDougall, comparatively unknown young Sacramento attorney. The margin was less than 500 votes.

Babcock lost the editorial support of both Sacramento newspapers. They pointed to three legislative investigations, conducted at considerable expense, with only headlines and no convictions the outcome. Undaunted, Babcock promised new evidence and more sensational disclosures when the grand jury resumes its deliberations in October. Having been reelected, he is almost obligated to go ahead with his plans.

There were many who figured primary election politics motivated some phases of the investigation. Both Governor Frank F. Merriam and Lieutenant Governor George J. Hatfield, Republican opponents, were charged with trying to guide questioning, particularly during the grilling of Arthur H. Samish, San Francisco lobbyist.

It was Samish who aided Merriam in his campaign four years ago, then switched away and backed Hatfield this year. When Merriam appropriated funds to carry on the investigation, it was said he was out to get Hatfield. When Samish gave tesimony derogatory to Merriam, the shout of "politics" went up.

After the Republicans got through trying to scuttle each other, the Democrats went on the frying pan. Col. William Neblett and Assembly speaker William Mosley Jones clashed and a certain three letter word was intimated in no uncertain terms. Neblett was waging a vigorous if ineffectual campaign for governor and Jones was counting himself a leading contender for attorney general. Whether the grand jury appearance hurt their campaigns or not, both finished far down the ladder.

Neblett continued his Sacramento flyin gtrips with his defense of Clayton S. Adams and William Silliman, Los Angeles detectives who refused to testify before the jury on Neblett's advice. The caustic southern attorney contended the jury was without jurisdiction to consider a Los Angeles county case, such as the assembly interim hearings in Los Angeles on the Hollywood activities of the International Alliance of Theatrical stage employes.

The final outcome of the legislative hearing may result in a grand jury recommendation that attorney members of the legislature be prohibited from appearing before legislative committees in the role of attorneys. This prevalent practice was one of the reasons why Babcock started the investigation and subpenaed Assemblyman William Hornblower of San Francisco.

Hornblower was accused of accepting money from a Monterey sardine company in return for his legislative influence in killing a certain sardine bill detrimental to the concern. This Hornblower denied, contending he was paid for legal services. Later the jury refused to issue an indictment.

Many political observers believe that the abundance of lawyers in the legislature is prompted by something other than willingness to serve the state for a small salary.

Thomas Brown, engaged at the W. W. Mein home at Woodside has been spending several days at the Mein Tahoe summer estate in Tahoe Park.

Mrs. C. O. Valentine was hostess at a novel party at her home near the Tavern on Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. Earthquake bridge was the afternoon's hilarious diversion, following tasty refreshments. Mrs. Van Nessa Prusso and family accompanied by Adolph Marchetti, left by motor on Sunady for Louisville, Kentucky, where they will join Mr. Prusso for the winter. They plan to make the trip leisurely.

A hint of impending winter could be felt in Tahoe's weather last Saturday and Sunday as dark clouds overshadowed the skies and wind, thuner an rain showers visited in scattered sections.

Another Tahoe couple, Frederick A. Beaton, 37, and Viola Burgess, both of Tahoe City, slipped away a week ago and were married in Reno Mr. and Mrs. Ted Marshall were hosts at a celebration upon their return here.

TAHOE NIMRODS ARE HAVING RECORD IN OPENING DEER HUNT

TAHOE CITY, Sept. 22.— Tahoe's 1938 deer season daily shows increasin gpromises of becoming the most successful and exciting in years. Reports from the various locations indicate bucks are plentiful—although many are still in the velvet, a somewhat unusual sight noted only when seasons are late.

First man int otown around 7 a. m. on the opening morning was Lou Gerkin, butcher at Atherton's who shot for himself a beautiful four-pointer in the vicinity of Ski Hill canyon. From the same region, later in the day, Glen Colfelt, chef at the Tavern brought out a 140 pound three pointer, Ray Hicks of the Tahoe Liquor store getting a forked horn on Sunday in the same district.

From Dollar Hill Allen Wehrman brought a three pointer and Charles Pick of Tahoe Electric Company a forked horn.

Albert Henry, Jr., shot a big four-pointer which dressed 152 pounds on Sunday in the vicinity of Watson Lake.

Charles Swanson and Bob Wallace brought out a three pointer from the Dog Valley region where plenty of does and few bucks were sighted on opening day.

Ernest Crawford of Tahoe Vista brought home the limit his first trip out killing two bucks, both under 100 pounds in the hills back of Brockway.

Fay Ellis and a party of eight all guests at Tahoe Inn brought in three bucks, the largest a four- pointer tipping the scales at 185 pounds. Their hunting location was not disclosed.

Jess Sisk of Tahoe Park intended only to scout around a bit Sunday when he tok his gun and sauntered up Ward Creek .But after hiking some distance he was forced to shoot down a three-pointer which got in his way. Deciding against leaving it in the woods unattended he carried and dragged the animal all the way home being on the verge of collapse when he arrived. He has definitely decided to take a car along when reconnoitering again.

Carl Bechdolt, Sr., of Tahoe Inn and party consosting of Billie Bechdolt, Carl, Jr., Dick Foley, Art Olson and Douglas Smith chose the Rubicon region for their destination bringing out three nice bucks. Olson got a three pointer and Billie and Carl, Sr., each brought down a forked horn.

Paul Crandall of Crandall's Tahoe Park grocery and his cousin, Eugene Crandall on Monday brought in two beautiful four pointers which weighed 152 and 156 pounds, dressed, both being taken from Antone Meadows region.

Les Darrington, former old time Tahoe resident now living in Folsom and his friend, James Brunette of San Francisco were successful in bringing down one four pointer weighing around 200 pounds and a forked horn close to 150 pounds in the Hell Hole region. They left on Monday.

Sam Bailey of Pasadena who with friends is hunting in Hell Hole region with bowand arrow, remain unreported.

Fred Kohler of Truckee river, choosing Squaw Creek for his quarry brought back a forked horn on the opening day.

Edward W. Prindle of Stockton paking in above Meek's Bay with Guide Bob Skates, brought out the first two bucks both big four pointers.

Patrolman Gene Walker, Constable Harry Johanson, Bud Walker, Tom Walker and Ted View of Woodland Joe Puccinelli of Sacramento, Patrolman Jack Coe of Baxters Camp and Bud Slater of Tahoe Park left on horseback early Wednesday morning from Deer Park for Five Lakes making camp at Shank's Cove. From here the party split up to hunt on Buckskin Range, Johanson, Gene Walker and View getting forked horns, Slater and Coe downing four-pointers. The party returned home on Sunday afternoon.

Taking top honors so far this season are two youngsters of the region. One is Freddie Werner of Newcastle whose parents have a summer home at Lake Forest. Saturday Freddie went hunting with his father and brought down a 190 pound mule tail four pointer on the ridge above the Truckee river somewhere between Truckee and Tahoe with a little .22 special. The young hunter placed the bullet squarely in the big fellow's heart.

The second youngster's name is yet unknown by the writer, but the stor ygoes that he accompanied 14 of his elders from Meek's Bay who rode out after a buck. All of the party brought home a buck, but the 13 year old lad's was the biggest by far.

STRANGE TRESPASSER DISCOVERED USING UNOCCUPIED HOME

TAHOE CITY, Sept. 22.—A strange case of trespassing came to light at Tahoe on Saturday evening when Deputy Sheriff Charles Swanson was called to investigate the premises of the Spens Blacks, a large two-story summer home near the shore not far from the Tahoe Tavern.

Henry F. Droste ,a friend of the Black family, sighted smoke rising from the chimney of the house as he drove by, although the residence had not been opened for a year. Investigation unearthed one Richard Kurz, 18, formely of New York City, just sitting down to a supper he had cooked ofr himself in the kitchen.

He told Swanson he had occupied the house for a month, having found a window of the place broken open. He could not understand why he should not be allowed to continue to occupy the house in the capacity of caretaker, although he had never been engaged by the owners for that purpose. He declared he had not injured anything, had used only a small amount of electricty and had taken nothing. He produced a handkerchief in which $49.50 was secreted, money he said he had saved from his job as caddy at the golf links this summer.

The case was presented to Justice of the Peace George Bliss at Tahoe City who notified Probation Officer Allen of Auburn. Because of the youth of the culprit, it was believed the juvenile court should dispose of the matter. Kurz showed papers which established character references and indicated he had been a mess boy on the eastern steamer lines and belonged to the seamen's union.

After spending one night in the Truckee jail because the key to the Tahoe jail was not available, young Kurz left for Auburn Sunday with Allen.

BRODEHL INJURED IN FALL DOWN HOLE ON SEATTLE BOAT

TAHOE CITY, Sept. 22.— From Seattle comes word that D. M. Brodehl, Tahoe mail contractor, suffered a painful fall through the cargo hole of his new ship which delivers mail daily on his northern contract between Seattle and Victoria, a one-way distance of 126 miles. Brodehl was rushed by coast guard cutter to the marine hospital in Seatttle where a leg, fractured in two places, and other numerous injuries may keep him confined for two or three months in the hospital. The accident occurred near Prt Angel.

PIERSONS FETED AT FAREWELL PARTY AT TAHOE HOME

TAHOE CITY, Sept. 22.— Mr. and Mrs. Si Pierson and daughter, Miss Blanche, were tendered a farewell party on Sunday evening at the Norman Mayfield home in town. The affair was a complete surprise to them, as cohostesses Mrs. Mayfield, Mrs. Grover, Mrs. Betty Stevens, Mrs. Barbara Spitsen and Miss Mary Pronzato arranged the details without their knowledge.

A gift card table and cards were presented the mduring the evening, which was climaxed by the serving of a buffet luncheon.

Guests inculded Mr. and Mrs. Matt Green, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Pedersen, Mr. and Mrs George Bliss, Miss Mary Pronzato and mother, Mrs. Henrietta Pronzato of Fort Bragg, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Henry, Mr. and Mrs Martin Spitsen, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Quam, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Panelli, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Grver, Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Mayfield, Mrs. Bliss Hinkle and the honorees, who plan to leave Tahoe in a week or ten days.

SOUTHERN POLICE IN TAHOE SEEKING UNKNOWN THUGS

TAHOE CITY, Sept. 22.— Local officers were lending their cooperation to three members of the Los who arrived here on Saturday after-Angeles district attorney's office noon. Although names of the men they sought, names of the officers involved and details of their mission were not revealed, it was learned the hunted desperados had been seen in this vicinity. When investigation failed to disclose their whereabouts, the southern officers departed. It is believed they are slated for an early return.

FEW ACCIDENTS AT TAHOE CREDITED TO LOCAL OFFICERS

TAHOE CITY, Sept. 22.— Ceaseless vigilance and strict enforcement of the traffic laws at Tahoe this season by Patrolman Gene Walker are believed paramount factors in reduction of local accidents, with their resultant injuries. All previous records were broken as not one fatality occurred during Walker's official stay at Tahoe from June 9 to September 21.

The worst accident of the summer was that of Jimmie Lyden's. His car struck a tree beside the highway at night and he received several fractured ribs and other painful injuries.

A total of 132 arrests were made by Walker as compared to 115 during his first summer in the Tahoe region in 1935. It is believed that the officer's fearless, favorless campaign against reckless driving, backed by the cooperation of Justice of the Peace George Bliss, is creating a deeper respect locally for the laws of the highway and rendering Tahoes beautiful drives safer and more pleasurable each year.

With the advent of the new snow plow for the Tahoe region exclusively, the problem of retaining a traffic patrolman throughout the year arises. It is believed that this matter will be solved effectively long before 1939's winter snows set in, should plans materialize.

OPEN HOUSE AT TAHOE HOME IS ENJOYED BY MANY

TAHOE CITY, Sept. 22.— Almost the whole town turned out last Tuesday to attend the "open house" party given by Chris 'Honeybunch' Boyiarides of the Bettencourt tract. Kegs of beer and sandwiches, coffee and all the trimmings were spread for the merrymakers to enjoy while music was furnished by Sid Vail and Les the Cowboy in a cheerful and efficient manner of their guitars. Dancing occupied the spotlight from time to time as a steady stream poured i annd ut of the gaily lighted cottage.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hull, Miss Catherine Murphy, Mr and Mrs. Joe Duffee and daughter, Eunice, Mr and Mrs. Bill Shifton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinkle and daughter, Marilyn, Constable Harry Johanson, Patrolman Gene Walker, Clarence Knutson, Miss Mary Pronzato and mother, Mrs. Henrietta Pronzato, Mr. and Mrs. George Bliss, honored guests of the evening; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Spitsen, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Grover, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bechdolt, Sr., Weller Atherton, Bob Skates, George McGinnis, Shorty Crom, Pedro Equinoa, Clarence Vernon, Johnnie Perelli, Betty Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Green, Mamie Davenport, Dr. C. B. Pedersen and Mrs Pedersen, Miss Carol Dunne, Mr. and Mrs. Seigelton, Mr and Mrs. Al Reese of Oakland ,Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hicks, Mrs. Eleanor Swanson and daughter, Phyllis.

WALKER, LA PORTE ACQUIRE PROPERTY IN TAHOE DISTRICT

TAHOE CITY, Sept. 22.— An interesting announcement was made here this week by Gene Walker, popular traffic patrolman, who declared that he and his captain, Charles La-Porte of Roseville have acquired possession from the California National Bank of Sacramento of 107 acres of island ranch property in the Lake Forest region. For 30 years this land belonged to Frank X. Walker, father of Gene, who also had other extensive holdings inculding the famous old Lone X ranch near Fleishhackers. Walker contemplates building a new house next summer and may eventually with his partner transform the old pasture into a modern dude ranch and auto court. Progress at Tahoe marches on!

A Letter to You

Dear Californians:

We want you to know why we oppose the single tax, proposition No. 20 on the November ballot, and why we believe you too will want to vote NO.

It will not raise the funds to keep our schools open, provide aid for the needy or for the aged. Chaos in business, agriculture and government will result.

Sincerely yours,

PROPOSITION NO. 25, $30 EACH WEEK, IS EXPLAINED BY U. P.

This is the first of a series of articles prepared by the United Press to acquaint our readers with the propositions to be balloted upon November 8th.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.— (UP)— The $30 every Thursday pension proposal most far-reaching of any pension plan to be suggested since old age security legislation assumed a commanding position in political affairs, is perhaps the most widely discussed topic in California politics.

The plan has been denounced as a visionary scheme which would bring to California financial ruin. It has been praised a sa forthright response to the demand that "something must be done" to meet problems of over production and under consumption. Its backers present the plan as "ham and eggs for Californians."

Briefly, the $30 every Thursday proponents advocate that sum as a means of caring for old people and simultaneously creating new business through a widespread increase in purchasing power.

It is proposed that the state finance the plan by issuing each Thursday 30 $1 retirement compensation warrants, non interest bearing, negotiable and transferrable without endorcement, to every qualified citizen over 50 years of age who is neither employed nor an employer.

Applicants would be required to make sworn statements as to age, lack of employment, legal residence in California for one year, or five years if residence is established after enactment of the plan.

Its backers have declared the "red tape" connected with the idea does not go beyond this stage. A successful applicant would be given a letter of credit and an identification and payments record card to be presented every Thursday thereafter. Provided applicants observed qualifications, the "super substitute for money" would then be forthcoming for life.

The initiative provides for appointment of a state retirements life payments administrator from three named persons, appointee to serve until successor is elected in 1940 for four years. Under terms of the act the state is required to issue the compensation warrants and redemptio nstamps to eb affixed thereon weekly and to redeem warrants annually.

Each Thursday for 52 weeks, a 2 cent redemption stamp would have to be affixed on each warrant to maintain its potential value.

The theory underlying the stamp attachments is that at the end of a year there would be 52 two cent stamps on the back of each warrant or $1.04. Holder of the warrant would present it to the state and receive $1 in cash. The extra four cents would be retained by the state to cover administration costs.

Warrants would have to be accepted by tax collecting agencies of political subdivisions in payment for taxes, and the act further provides that 50 per cent of state, city county or other political subdivision employe salaries must be paid in the script.

Although the plan's promoters declare merchants in all classes of trade will accept the paper, the California state chamber of commerce has asserted the warrants would not be deposited in banks or credited to accounts. No person, firm or employe in private industry can be compelled to accept such printing press warrants in place of money.

Another apparent contradiction is that the plan is not an idea involving new taxation. The state must issue the stamps worth two cents and sell them for cash. In effect, in the opinion of impartial critics, the stamps represent a direct tax.

As presented by the petition campaign committee, arguments in favor of the plan include in part:

"Warrants will be evenly distributed to 500,000 people weekly. They will increase business for every merchant who cooperates in the plan. It contemplates the widest spread of buying power ever seen.

"It involves no tax or cost to the taxpayers now or later. The two cent stamps attached weekly is a simple method disposing of each warrant by retirement in the same manner an automobile or a home is paid for in weekly or monthly payments.

Opponents have presented the following views for consideration of the voters:

"This constitutional amendment pretends to provide $30 a week for qualified individuals. It makes no such provision. At most, beneficiaries of its terms would receive warrants of an arbitrarily designated amount, but subject to an obligation for redemption in excess of the face amount of the warrants.

"These warrants could not circulate in private business transactions. If the warrants were to be usable it would be necessary for this amount ($780,000,000) worth of warrants distributed to an estimated 500,000 persons after one year to change hands each week, requiring tranactions of more than $40,000,000,000 a year.

"The total income of the people of the Unite dStates is only $80,000,000,000 a year. Business transactions in this state could not, under any condition, proivde a volume sufficient to support in circulation even a small fraction of the warrants which would be issued. Inability of the warrants to circulate would destroy thei rvalue since no one could afford t ohold them. The stamp charges (two cents a week) would be prohibitive."

(The next article, second in a series, will discuss proposition 20, the so-called Single Tax proposal).

LANDMARKS INCLUDE ROUGH & READY ARE NOW RECORDED

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.— (UP)— Three historical landmarks rich in colorful tradition of the California gold rush, Rough and Ready, Paloma and Copperopolis, have been registered, director George D. Nordenhold of the state department of natural resources announced.

Rough and Ready, once the principal town of Nevad Couny, is located four miles from Grass Valley on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway.

It was settled in the fall of 1849 by the Rough and Ready company of Wisconsin, a company of 12 men under Captain Townsend. One of the men discovered gold in the region and a thriving community sprang up almost immediately. The settlement met the fate of almost all the boom towns however, and by 1859 had experienced two disasterous fires.

The rugged little town's chief claim to immortality was its "secession" in 1850 from the United States government. A constitution was adopted at a mass meeting and the short-lived Great Republic of Rough and Ready was set up.

Paloma, another of the rich gold camps which came to life in the Mother Lode country, is on the state highway between Mokelumne Hill and Valley Springs in Calaveras county.

History of Paloma is closely identified with the history of Gwin mine. The town is at the head of Lower Rich Gulch, a gold deposit famous for early day placer mining, but Gwin mine, which concentrated on quartz mining, furnished the background for the town's development.

Under the ownership of Senator Gwin the properties flourished and so did Paloma. The town soon boasted several stores, a race track and the usual number of saloons and shops. Nearly all the enterprises gradually discontinued with the decline of mining in the region, and at present only one store remains.

Copperopolis, latest addition to the state's land marks, is 12 miles southwest of Angel's Camp in southern Calaveras county. Growth of the town stemmed from discovery in 1860 of the Union Copper mine. In the years following, great quantities of copper were hauled by ox and mule teams over a private road to Stockton, where it was shipped to Wales for reduction.

During the Civil war the town assumed its greatest importance and at one time its population exceeded 10,000. A newspaper, the Courier, was established during the period. In 1867 the last of the series of occurred and burned the greater part of the town.

PRELIMINARY WORK AT SHASTA DAM NOW UNDER WAY

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.— (UP)— Although large scale employment will not be reached for at least two years, 300 men are at work on preliminary work for Shast dam, a major unit of the Central Valley project at Redding.

The U. S. Bureau of reclamation here has warned job seekers not to make the long trip north in the hope of finding employment. No men are being engaged at the dam site.

Work under way includes mess hall and dormitory construction at the construction camp and access roads to the site.

Next week the dam builders expect to begin work on an elementary school house for children of dam workers and government employes.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

Any change in the law would have to come from the legislature.

Another question of importance is the scope of any grand jury in investigation. Babcock takes the attitude that Sacramento county has jurisdiction over legislators because a resolution passed at the 1937 session ordered him to investigate corruption charges.

Neblett headed the faction that contended any grand jury in the state could step into any other county if Babcock's reasoning was sound.

The opening of the jury sessions to the public was something new in this country. It gave the layman a good picture of what went on behing the usually closed jury doors It also gave the politically-minded witnesses and attorneys a chance t get over their points to a large assemblage of the press.

GOP Precinct Committeeman

"Let us bray," says Curtis Boston, to Miss Gaile Cox, an election examiner in the little town of Milton, Wash., where he was elected Republican precinct committeeman when his name was put on the ballot by Mayor Kenneth Simmons, a Democrat. It was a stunt by Simmons to prove that candidates' names mean nothing to a certain percentage of voters. The Republicans had no other candidate, anyway.
